EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW WITH THE BUTTERFLY MAN!

After Butterfly Man had defeated his arch nemesis the Lizard Man, we were lucky to get an exclusive interview with our hero while he was at hospital. Our interviewer asked him about his story, and we were delighted that he gave us an answer:

"I still remember waking up from a nightmare in which a lizard devoured me. I was scared and looking for the light switch. I looked towards my window, just to see a big shadowy figure inside my room. Although the saying goes 'curiosity killed the cat', I decided to take a closer look. To my surprise, I saw a cute, blue and black striped butterfly. I was so afraid of it, but its beauty hypnotised me. So, I took a step closer and reached out my hand. In this moment, the butterfly bit me and I felt a sharp pain across my whole body.

The pain was horrible, and I took a look in the mirror just to see huge wings and a feeler coming out of my head. I was so scared and confused, so I started screaming. My granny heard me and ran into my room. I thought she would be shocked or possibly faint; however, she was really calm. She wanted me to sit down and told me the legend about the butterfly which bit me. Apparently, the butterfly only bites the one person who has the power to save our world. I didn't really understand why the butterfly chose me and I was scared about the responsibility. With time I started accepting myself as the Butterfly Man but only with the help of my grandma.

Five years later, I was in Hawaii, about to face my greatest enemy: Lizard Man. As I was, and at heart still am, the Butterfly Man, I felt it was my sole duty to free the world of that horrendous monster.

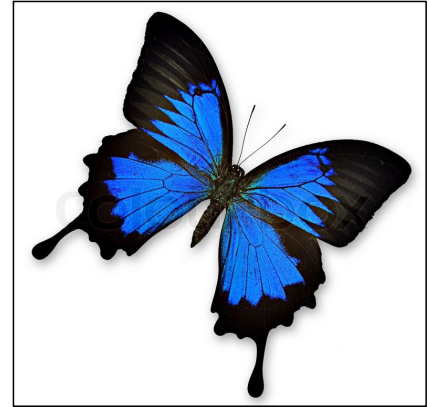

He has managed to capture all of the people inside his egg-like capsules. People who were almost like a second family to me. Even though it is said that you fight best when calm and collected, I let rage and anger consume me in order to have more power and ignore the aching in my bones. I whispered to myself how I needed to save everybody, no matter what the cost. How else I could call myself a hero? I looked at Lizard Man's evil lair and took off in a hurry, remembering what my granny told me about my power. I needed to use it for good.

I knew that the enemy couldn't hide from me and that I would get him.

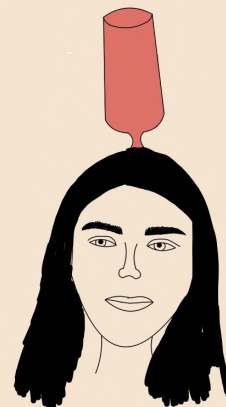

His lair was over a huge, deep lake and luckily for me he was standing at a cliff which was right over the lake. I used this as an opportunity and flew at him as fast as I possibly could. We both went flying off the cliff and into the deep body of water. Thinking it would be my last day I felt tears leaving my eyes, but I didn't care. I was, and always will be prepared to sacrifice my life to save humankind.

As I hit the water, I felt my powers fading away and heard people talking from far away. I was really close to losing my consciousness, but I wasn't ready to give up. With my last strength, I swam to the surface, hoping my grandma would be proud of who I have become.

Next thing I know I woke up in the hospital surrounded by loved ones."

NORTH KOREA HAS HANDED THEIR NUCLEAR WEAPONS OVER TO THE DEMOCRATIC PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC KOREA

Since the 22nd of February 2122, the relationship between North and South Korea has positively changed. This is a historically monumental development. Supreme Leader of North Korea, Kim Jong-un, is by a miracle still alive. A peace treaty has been signed between both Kim Jong-un and the current President of South Korea. Kim Jong-un recently fell in love with Ahri, daughter to the President of South Korea. For this marriage to go ahead, Ahri's father demanded for Kim Jong-un give up his position of power and give every citizen in Korea one of his nuclear weapons. NATO feels threatened by this and its member states are considering to reintroduce compulsory military service, some countries have even decided to go into an emergency lockdown. People are worried about the future and fear for their loved ones.

THE PERFECT CAKE

It was a sunny and hot summer afternoon. Cleo, a 16-year-old girl from Washington DC, decided to surprise her mother by baking a cake. She searched for all the right ingredients and wanted it to be perfect. She turned up her favourite music before she started to mix all the ingredients in the bowl. At first, she wanted to follow a specific recipe, but she thought the dough already tasted amazing as it was. She put the tin into the oven. When she returned to check on how the cake was doing, she couldn't believe her eyes. Her cake had somehow disappeared and out the oven came a handsome young boy. He stared into Cleo's eyes, into her soul. This was an experience like never before. There was an overwhelming tension and sparkle between them as if they had known each other forever. Without a doubt, she knew these were signs of an extraordinary love story. Even though her goal was to bake her mother the perfect cake, she accidentally baked her mother a new son in law. Now isn't that romantic?

FRENCH WAS NEVER EMOTIONAL OR FASCINATING

Who would have thought that back in the 2020s, people on our planet were using more than 7100 different languages to communicate? Unbelievable, isn't it? I truly cannot imagine hearing or using a language other than English.

Language barriers must have made the world much more difficult. To get a deeper insight into what some languages sounded like, we asked some of the last people who experienced life in 2050 if they could speak some French for us. There is no doubt that the title of our text fits well. We thought the pronunciation was difficult, but French was actually known for being romantic. Nowadays I could not imagine hearing my robot speak to me in such a language – that would just be very weird. French, in fact, was not even one of the most difficult languages. People from some countries even used a completely different letter system. The question we ask ourselves now is “why all of that effort?”. We don't quite know the answer, however, communication back then was definitely not very simple.

DIMENSION

At night we go to sleep. A few moments later we wake up in another dimension and then there was a big special monster. The monster has three snake heads and eight fins. His body is like the body of a crab and his colour is white. The dreamland is underwater, and we do not need oxygen to breathe. Then the monster swims to us and opens its mouth. We are very scared, but then it begins to speak to us and asks, "What are you guys doing in my kingdom?" We answer him, that we just woke up here and did not know where we were. We also say that we are hungry. He says that we can follow him because he has enough food for us. We see his big golden palace and he shows us a big table in a huge golden room with a lot of food from the ocean. We go inside and eat a lot. After the great meal, he invites us to follow him again into a very big and nice ocean paradise. We have never seen such beautiful houses before. On the way into this paradise, we hear many voices. The friendly monster stops us and points towards a group of many other monsters. Then the king says that his name is James and asks us for our name's. After we answered, we walked over to the group of the other monsters. They are the king's people. The monsters stand in a circle, and they have a big party. King James explains to us that the party is a welcome party. Although the group were at first a little bit scary due to their unique characteristics, all of them were very friendly. Suddenly I hear my mother and she wake us up. We are very sad that I was waking up from a dream.

TREE POEM

We were sleeping,
Hoping, crying out loud,
Couldn't see our future,
Even though our fears were screaming out loud.

Climbing up the tree of life,
Trying to hike,
Hike and fight.

Fork is the shadow,
Burned by the sun,
Blinding, rushing, crushing in.

Dreams, goals and perspectives,
Covered in dusty skies,
Fantasy worlds and stars we can't reach.

Mama, please tell me,
How the future will be,
If I am not even able to climb that tree.

Get me down,
Pick me up,
Wish me luck.

Tell me to not give up.

Around a hundred years ago today
Germany lost it's favourite chancellor
After sixteen years she stepped away
Angie Merkel left only one answer

The people had to elect a new one
All candidates in critique
Their reputation instantly gone
As soon as this went public

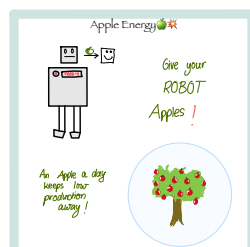

Armin Laschet tried to gain some fans
By visiting the Ahrtal
He took some pictures, laughed with Frank
Didn't help, now look at his rival

Frau Baerbock was quite popular
Amongst the left wing parties
The right wing said she went too far
With pauses in words and Cannabis

Last but not least, we have the winner
Olaf Scholz, another man
That option was way easier
Since most things stayed the same

Looking back, it's safe to say
Society was not ready
To take that step, say bye to Mutti
Replacing her was heavy

GO FOR IT

The future is ours,

Yours and mine,

But we have to be confident,

Give me your hand I hold it in mine.

A land that's broken,

In pieces, opinions and minds,

Must be repaired,

But it will take some time.

The scars of our history still remain,

But the stars of our future shine brighter every night and day.

Fight for your country everyone says,

But not with guns,

With peace in your head,

With love in your heart.

Democracy is what's meant to be,

Stand up for it and you'll be free,

Reflect on the past, learn its lesson,

America is great,

But you need to listen,

To the voices that will survive,

In a bath of never ending lies,

The ones that will hold your people tight.

Love is the key,

Will build a bridge to simplify the way,

America needs to go,

By everyone will grow,

Raise up to the sky,

See the possibilities of your life,

And say goodbye to what's left behind.
